Rekindle

This season is all about falling in love again. With your home, your things, and your personal space. It's time to be optimistic about the future and find new ways to make significant changes. Also, when it comes to interior design. Rekindle - such a little word. But full of hope.

What does Rekindle have to do with your home? Well, your home is a catalyst for your mood and getting the tone right is essential: For you and us. Our vision is to frame your home in the best way possible. And sometimes, all it takes is a new perspective and a rekindling of the vibe in your home.

So, with that in mind – we bring you our Rekindle Collection. Welcome nuances, embrace change and fall in love again – with the old and the new.

A Mix of Love

In Italian, Amare means to love. And we love the freedom of choice. A choice to become more connected around no-fuss meals, get-togethers, and impromptu social gatherings. To surround yourself with decor and people that make you happy. We dream that Amare Tableware will be at the heart of the best times.

As we emerge from the last two years of being stuck at home, new moods rise in interior design. Making an effort, entertaining at home and creating spaces for family gatherings or long table dinners are back in style.

Our brand-new Amare Tableware is a tribute to the simplicity of setting the table with a clean yet warm Scandi-feel where there is room for surprises, imagination, and togetherness. And it goes without saying, a hearty meal.

The design process of bringing a new tableware series to our collection began almost two years ago. Going for a pleasing crafted feel, the series of subtle plates play well with the more bright-coloured cup and saucer; the aim was a mix of shapes and styles that spell togetherness. Drawing on a retro-inspired look, we've combined this influence with a Scandi-coloured muted palette in a solid, rich glaze with bright pops of saturated colours to embrace the entire spectrum of colours that, when mixed, tell a compelling universal story of reconnecting and coming together.

Reflect.

- We should all give ourselves time to reflect. Reflecting on how we live, the people we surround ourselves with, and our work-life balance takes courage and the ability to pause time and pair back every so often. And then we are ready to give, receive and enjoy.

Caught in the Moment

How time flies when you are having fun; We all know the notion of spending hours with something or somebody that we enjoy, whether, with friends or alone, that time passes surprisingly quickly. Our new sofa-set Moment has all the features of a classic upholstered sofa with a few twists and turns that will not only up the style stakes in your living room but also provide the best framework for a good time.

Big on space, the Moment sofa set will hold your entire family, whether for a movie night or a night of fun and board games.

Sinking into a soft, welcoming sofa at the end of a long workday alone has its qualities. And the Moment sofa allows you to indulge comfortably in a book, a cup of tea or both – in style.

The grey bouclé fabric, also known as loop yarn, has a decorative texture of loops and knots that add something extra to a classic grey upholstery fabric. The pale wooden details complement and enhance the overall look of this modern sofa that will be loved for generations to come.

However, we all like to make timely changes to our décor. And changing your sofa ever so often will be a costly matter. One of the best ways to spruce up your sofa and living room décor is by changing and rearranging your home accessories.

The Shape of Things to Come

Interior design trends shape how we decorate and style our homes. While planning and conceptualising for upcoming fairs, Hübisch stylists Maiken Bareuther and Mie Lysgaard found their favourite pieces from the brand-new and older collections. They explain how spending time in our homes has changed over recent years and why finding a new purpose for oldies but goldies merge with current interior design trends.

Mie

"When I look at the Aki Lamp, I instantaneously get a happy vibe from the sculptural shape and soft khaki colour. The volume also appeals to me; however, this lamp works as an accent piece without stealing the room's attention. When I see this lamp as part of current design trends, even though it's from a past collection, it's due to the responsible visual aesthetics. The shape is classic, with a modern style and colour that blends perfectly with whatever trends emerge in the future. To me, the Aki Lamp is the perfect oldie but goldie."

Nusa Side Table

Maiken

"The dark green marble Nusa table is one of my favourite Hübisch side tables. The combination of marble and metal makes this table versatile yet timeless. The retro-inspired dark green reminds me of my nan's house, but the design language and choice of material are very forward-thinking. This specific narrative encapsulates not only the Hübisch approach to design but also conscientious consumer behaviour, where longevity plays a large part in the decision-making when buying new furniture. An emotional connection to a piece is also part of that process. The Nusa table will be around for at least another 50 years, and I love that thought".

Colour Forecast.

- "For SS23, we see the colour lime green in interiors as one of those refreshing colours that will spruce up a shelf unit, a kitchen top counter or a dinner table."

Agenda Cushion

Mie

"We see a renewed interest in more decorative styles from past design decades, such as geometric patterns. We will see a focus on quick and small changes that transform a space within seconds; instead of changing the entire cushion – you can change the cushion cover. The Agenda cushion from our Rekindle Collection ticks all the boxes regarding playfulness, edginess, and adaptability. The graphic pattern intermeshes with solid colours beautifully, adds character to your space, and promises to rejuvenate a neutral backdrop or sofa."

Abyss Vase

Maiken

"It's no secret that I adore flowers and beautiful vases. Because personal meetings, having people over for dinner, and social gatherings, in general, are trending, I believe people are looking for affordable items that brighten up their homes for those occasions. I see the Abyss Vase being one of those items. The vase has a sculptural value and a tactile touch which complements and refreshes any type of décor. For SS23, we see the colour lime green in interiors as one of those refreshing colours that will spruce up a shelf unit, a kitchen top counter or a dinner table."
